THE COUNTRY CLUB

God made the country and man made the club. Between the two the Country Club in Nuuanu valley is going to be the finest thing of its kind ever planned and carried out in Hawaii.

A trip to the site of the country club will repay one for many times the trouble. The place is not far enough removed from the city to make it difficult to get to and neither is it close enough that one does not get far enough away from the city to lose the dirt and heat of the city.

A car is boarded at the corner of Hotel and Fort street, bound Ewa, and then one is whirled away through dirt, dust, and Palama. As one passes through the lower part of the city a feeling of disappointment comes and one is almost bound to wish that they had remained at home. But as one passes up the Liliha street road that feeling is gradually left behind until the end of the car line is reached where it disappears entirely.

A walk of 15 minutes will bring one to the grounds of the country club—three hundred acres of land just suitable for the need of such an institution. No need to plant grass on the hills in that section. The entire 300 acres which comprise the estate of the club is carpeted with a heavy grass which does away with all need of planting lawns.

A visit to the club at present will only reveal the immense amount of labor that is being done in order to put the place in first class shape. The scene is indeed a busy one. There are Japs by the score. Some are hauling rocks and placing them in large piles and others are fixing the golf course.
Others are clearing away the lantana and still others are building trails about the sides of the gulches.

In the center of this activity is a knoll which rises to a height from which the entire estate can be seen.
Here it is that the club house is to be built. When finished it will be a long low house, finished brown, with broad spacious lands. Inside there will be reception rooms, reading rooms, dining rooms, lounging rooms, and all the other necessary apartments.

From the knolls of this club house a most magnificent view of the city and harbor can be obtained. The location is an ideal one and it is one where it will be always cool.

Directly in front of the house and between the loops of the road as it winds its way up will be built the tennis courts. There will be two double courts. One will be made of cement and the other of dirt. They will be finished thoroughly and probably will be the best courts in town. They are sheltered from the wind that sweeps down from Nuuanu by the house, itself.

On the Ewa side of the house a bathing pool is to be built. This will afford the necessary plunge after a hot morning on the links. It will be surrounded by a high screen up which vines will be trained. Dressing rooms will be provided near by as well as lockers wherein all necessary belongings can be kept.

The golf links will be 3000 yards long and will be a nine hole course. It was here that Manager Woods, who is ever ready to pilot visitors about the club grounds, grew enthusiastic. "This will be the finest course in Hawaii," he said. "Those who go around this course in 50 will be doing extremely well. All of the stones are being removed and very little grass will have to be planted. It is nature's own golf links."

There are innumerable little legends about the place. Manager Woods has already discovered a number of caves used in early days for burying. These are lined with stone and are very substantial. Manager Woods can talk by the hour and explain all of the relics of earlier days and the little legends which belong to that section.

On the summit of the knoll near the club will be built the manager's house.
The plans for this will be left to Mr.
Woods and he has not as yet decided how it will be built. He will reside at the club but there will not be sleeping provisions made for any of the other club members.

A road is now being constructed which will connect the club house with Nuuanu street. A drive up Nuuanu Avenue and then across to the club house will not be a great distance.
The road will wind around the hill in an easy grade.

Around the clubhouse a huge garden is to be built. Many different kinds of trees are to be planted as well as a large lawn. To the rear of the building a vegetable garden will be planted so that fresh garden truck can be placed upon the club's tables. It was in discussing this pharise of the club that Manager Wood again was carried away with the prospects. "Yes, we will have a garden so that the boys can have something fresh on the tables.
We will have some chickens and give them fresh eggs as well as a newly pulled carrot when they call for it.
And then we shall have two cows and just think, we shall occasionally give them cream, really and truly cream.
Oh, they will think that they are in the country alright when they get up there. There will be the best cook we can get hold of. In the kitchen and the meals will be served as well as in any of the hotels. And the best part of the whole affair is the fact that each member will feel as if they owned a part of it."

Although the grounds of the club are a thing of beauty today they will be improved greatly as soon as fresh trees and vines can be made to grow. The former owners of the property sometime ago had rock walls built about the estate and now over these the new owners will plant vines with various colored leaves and blossoms so that the effect will be very pretty in the future. Shade trees will be planted and rustic seats provided so that all may sit and rest when tired with the golf links.

The estate reaches right up on to the mountain on the Ewa side of Nuuanu valley and the links reach to the base of the hills. As that section of the country was all cleared of lantana and only the grass shows the effect is very pretty. On the other side the estate reaches nearly to the Pali road and clear down into the gulch near the road. Numerous little summer houses will be built in these gulches and everything built with an eye for beauty and comfort.

The club has at present nearly three hundred members. The officers of the club are E. Faxon Bishop, president; Frank Armstrong, secretary; J. O.
Young, treasurer. The board of directors are James McInerney, C. S. Holloway, Dr. C. B. High and Ned Adams.
Jess L. Woods is manager and will live on the premises.

The effect of such a club upon the sports in Hawaii cannot be except for the best. They will do much to promote sporting in all lines but especially well will golf and tennis flourish.
The courts and links at the club will probably be the scene of many a well fought battle with the racket or club.
Tournaments will be held there in the future and from those courts and links there may go forth records which will be hard to equal in the world at large.

There is one other sport that is being thought of but as yet no steps have been taken to carry it into effect. And that is trap shooting. No doubt a gun range will be provided for the club and shooting contests will be held often.
The club will be a success and will be by far the best institution of its kind in Hawaii and it will probably be a good many years before another is built to equal it.

FOOTBALL THREE WEEKS DISTANT

PUNAHOU AND KAMS WILL MIX
IT IN FOOTBALL THREE WEEKS FROM TOMORROW.

Only three more weeks and then football.

Three weeks from tomorrow the Punahou will line up against the Kamehameha and the first game of intercollegiate football will be played in Hawaii under the revised rules. The second game will follow on November 12. The third game has not yet had its date decided upon.

At Punahou there are thirty husky boys all trying to make the team.
Coach Reed has been putting them through their paces for some time past but he has not as yet named the first team. There are about fifteen candidates who are sure that they will get on the team but some will be disappointed.

While the boys do not like the new game much they are going into the harness like veterans. They say that the game is not what it used to be but they will play it just the same.

At Kamehameha the same hard work is being gone through under the direction of Coach Hopwood. They have a large squad and all are working hard for the place on the team. The successful ones have not been named as yet.
They are confident of victory this year.

THE LOYAL ROOTER

He was a loyal rooter and he sat up in the stand.

A bag of popcorn on his knees, a score card in his hand;
And Donahue was pitching and Dame Fortune seemed to smile.

The Tigers took a lead of two and kept it for a while.

And the loyal rooter shouted and the loyal rooter yelled

Till a spinster who sat near him said:
"That fellow should be quelled."

Five innings Rusty Donahue mowed down the mighty hitters

That came from Cleveland on the lake —the rooter called them "quitters."

Five innings Rusty Donahue kept all of them at bay.

Which made the loyal rooter yell as only rooters may.

"You've got 'em goin', Donny!" and "O'Leary, you're a beauty!"

"Just knock 'em down to Coughlin, any way at all will suit!"

The loyal rooter shouted and he waved his hat in air.

And he spilled the bag of popcorn over everybody there;

And he cheered for Herman Schaefer and he cheered for Lindsay, too.

And then he cheered for Cobb and then again for Donahue.

Oh! he was a loyal rooter and that team of ours he said

Is the greatest team he ever saw when it's two runs ahead.

Then somehow something happened and they got to Donahue.

And four men ran across the plate before the sixth was through;

Then we sought the loyal rooter and we craned our necks to hear Him speak a word of courage for we sought a word of cheer.

One word was all he uttered and it ne'er will be forgotten.

He stammered for a moment, then he believed forth with, "Rotten!"

Then the loyal rooter howled in pain and mighty were his groans.

And then he roared Lindsay and he roared Davy Jones;

"The game is gone," he grumbled, "we can never win it back."

Then he signaled to the popcorn man and bought another sack.

"They are but a bunch of quitters," said the loyal rooter and

The greatest peace and quiet seemed to settle o'er the stand.

What a lesson now you teach us, loyal rooter, with your ways.

When it isn't necessary you bestow a word of praise;

You only cheer when winning and you sweeten what is sweet.

But you have no word of comfort for the team that meets defeat.

And I wondered when I heard you, would e'er a game be won.

If the players were to quit as you, my rooter friend, have done.

—Detroit Free Press.

him for embezzlement yesterday after-
